farmers in marketing their crops," Frick said.

Frick said he expected complete farm program provisions could be announced soon, early enough for, farmers to have time to plan for 1975 production.

How To Study In College

here, siad that 10 had enrolled as of Mon., July 15, and represented five high schools in this region.

"The response to our offering this course has been most gratifying, but we encourage all students planning to take the course to complete registration immediately," said Johnson.

The "How to Study in College" course, developed originally by two Purdue University professors as a "unique kind of college success insurance policy," will be offered in four nightly lectures at the Central Virginia Community College starting August 5. The class will meet from 7-9:30 p.m.

Johnson said that he has been contacted by students who are already in college wondering whether they can enroll in the course. He contacted the authors and learned that since the course is approximately 75 per cent devoted to study skills and 25 per cent to adjustments to college, "the older student may benefit considerably from the study skills portion of the course."

Any student wishing additional information should contact the high school guidance office to request descriptive material and a registration form which will be mailed to his home. The fee for the course is $25 which includes the instruction and class handout materials.

Instructor of the Central Virginia Community College course will be professor Robert F. Schwarz, a Purdue University professor who has taught the course for several years throughout the country.

Southern States Membership Day Set

G. M. Slater of Richmond, a member of Southern States Cooperative's regional staff, will report on the over-all Southern States operations for the fiscal year ended June 30. His report will also touch briefly on (1) the availability of production supplies; (2) some basic effects this has had and will have on agriculture; (3) remedial action taken by Southern States in light of these shortages, and (4) some projections on the future supply situation of many commodities.

Local operations and services rendered to agriculture in the community will be discussed by the manager Coleman.

Theme of the meeting will be "Your Cooperative Now, More Than Ever."

There will be special recognition for local board members and Farm Home Advisory Committee members who retire this year. Retiring board members are, John P. Alvis of Concord and George A. Shirey of Spout Spring.

Retiring Farm Home Advisory Committee members are Mrs. William D. O'Brien of Appomattox and Mrs. Earl Pickett of Pamplin.

Nominees for the local Advisory Board for the area are L. D. Flick, James R. Ford, Jr. and Glenn S. Martin, Sr. of Appomattox and E. W. Marshall, Sr. of Spout Spring.

Ladies nominated for the Farm Home Advisory Committee are Mrs. Russell L. Cordell of Appomattox, Mrs. A. F. Elliott, Jr. of Spout Spring, Mrs. E. M. Stratton of Concord and Mrs. Robert C. Winston of Appomattox.

There will also be the presentation of Cooperative Service Awards to Prospect Equipment Co., Inc. and to manager E. R. Johnson.

A number of door prizes will be given away during the day.

Refreshments will be served.

The following committee chairmen will assist with the local meeting Mrs. J. Berkley Drinkard, Jr. of Appomattox, ATTENDANCE & TELEPHONE; E. M. (Eddy) Covington of Pamplin, GREETING & RIBBONS; Mrs. I. Watts Moore of Concord, REFRESHMENTS; and Mrs. Ronald Coleman of Appomattox, DECORATING.

FARMERS WILL NEED GOOD RECORDS

those in the last previous agriculture census which covered farming and ranching during 1974.

Questions will ask for acreage of cropland harvested; quantity and market value of major crops produced; acres irrigated and means of irrigation; acreage treated with pesticides, lime and other chemicals; acreage fertilized by kind of fertilizer (dry, liquid, gas).

Questions on livestock and poultry will cover the number of each kind on the farm as well as the number sold and the sales value. Quantities and sales value of their products will be sought.

Details will be requested about farm products produced or marketed under contract. A few questions will be included about hired and contract labor, the number of workers and cash wages paid; also about any injuries to workers.

Further expenditure questions will cover amounts spent for feed, fertilizer, pesticides, lime, gasoline and other farm fuels, machine hire, and livestock and poultry purchases.

There will be questions about the various types and uses of land, such as cropland not harvested, other pasture and woodland, and about the value of land and buildings on the farm.

Operators will be asked about farm related income such as recreational services, customwork provided other farmers, or payments for participation in Government farm programs.

Two types of report forms are being prepared: one for farms with sales of less than $2500. No matter which form a farmer receives, he need answer only those questions that apply to his operation. He should skip questions that apply only to other types of agricultural operations.

By Federal law, every report is confidential. It may be seen only by sworn Census employees and may be used only for statistical purposes. The mail method reinforces confidentiality. It also allows the farmer to compete the report at his convenience with accurate information from his records.

Clover Hill

The Baby Contest at the Gravel Hill Baptist Church last Sunday afternoon turned out to be a great success. The total for the afternoon were $415. The sponsor would like to thank each and everyone.

Mrs. Inez White and daughter, Lisa, and her sister, Mrs. Othelia Washington and daughter, Laura, of Philadelphia, Pa. All were visiting in the home of Mrs. Millie Berkley and family over the week end.

Little Rickey Walker, of New York City, is visiting his grandmother here.

Homecoming Day will be this Sunday at the Gravel Hill Baptist Church. The morning speaker will be our own pastor, Rev. J. S. Miller at 11:30 a.m. The afternoon speaker will be Rev. Lee and throughout the week. The public is cordially invited.

Miss Rosetta Berkley of Richmond were visiting her family and friends here on last week end.

Food Shopper

by Cathy B. Hinton
Va. Dept. of Agriculture

Shortages, strikes, price increases and decreases - what will happen next to food prices? In the past consumers have taken food prices for granted, with an occasional complaint about seasonal variations in price. Today there are many diverse factors which affect the price of the food we eat; therefore it is necessary to develop a "consumer awareness" and try to understand this complex situation.

Many factors have contributed to these recent price increases. The following are just a few of the factors.

Due to increases in wages, the demand for food has gone up strongly.

Federal food programs have affected the demand for food.

Advanced technology has increased food supplies and kept prices down. Necessary restrictions on its use have the opposite effect.

Farm prices fluctuate widely due to natural forces such as weather, insects and disease.

Some additional uncertainties which surround the food and fiber price picture for 1974 are: levels of farm commodities and food stocks, the energy situation and the international money situation.

It is up to you to re-educate yourself. Keep up to date on factors which affect food prices and be alert to methods which could help you change your buying and eating patterns.

A recent survey made by a prominent women's magazine presented some interesting facts which show the changes now taking place in many households. The survey showed that economy saving measures were evident.

Some of the survey's findings which affected the food budget included: heavier private label buying, a deliberate effort to ease impulse buying and increased usage of cents - off coupons in the past half years.

Consumer respondents reported other changes including the the use of nutritional labeling and a change in cooking habits towards more casserole and one-dish meals.

All of the above indicate the development of consumer awareness and the action it has stimulated. Isn't it time for you to join the crowd? Be alert to the food situation and understand the contributing factors. Then, develop and use your consumer awareness when buying and preparing food.
